My name is Jane. Last Saturday, my brother and I were having a picnic in the country when a beautiful (1) butterfly flew over our heads.

“Look!” my brother said. “It has white wings! Are they endangered, Jane?”

“I don’t know,” I answered. “We (2) look on the Internet at home. We shouldn’t try to catch it, but when it stops on a flower, we can look at it more carefully.”

It had white wings, and there were a few little black

(3) There was a darker stripe at the top of each wing, too.

I (4) a picture of it on my phone.

That evening, we found its name on the computer. The butterfly we saw in the woods was called a “Small White.”

I’m going to find out about other butterflies now. I think they’re the most (5) insects in the world!

(6) Now choose the best name for this story.
