Queen Helen

Helen and her parents caught a train to the city last July. Helen was very excited.

First they walked up a hill to visit Lake Castle. It was one of the most beautiful castles in the country. It was dark inside, but Helen loved looking in all the rooms. She liked the big dining room the best.

"I'd like to sit and watch that nice big fire and listen to someone playing good music and have my dinner in this room every night," she said.

They went to the castle store before they left. Helen found a book about kings and queens there and decided to buy it.

Then they walked back down the hill and sat and had a picnic on the grass. After that, they bought tickets to go on a boat ride at one thirty. The name of the boat was the River Queen.

From the boat they could see the castle very well. Helen looked up at it. "One day, I'd like to be Queen Helen and live in that castle," she said.

"Can Mom and I come and visit you there?" Dad asked.

"Of course!" Helen laughed.
